Prouided alwaies and bee it enacted &c. that the sayd cõmissioners or ane of them, by vertue of this act, shall not haue power or auctoritie, to do any thing touching ẏ offences ordefaults aforesaid, cõtrary to ẏ ordinãce or purueiãce of any estatut heretofore made, or to the exclusion or taking away of any benefit or libertie permitted or saued, to any maner of persons by any prouisiõ in any of the sayd statutes, or contrary to the effect of any licence heretofore graunted by ẏ king and Queenes highnesse, or the quienes highnesse, or ane of the auncestours or predecessours of ẏ Queenes highnesse, so that the same licence bee shewed to them, or fower of thẽ, vnder Seale, before conuiction of ẏ offece or defaults aforesaid: Any thing afore said to the contrary therof in anywise notwithstanding. And for asmuch as it is lyke to bee that some houses hauing twenty acres of ground or more, to them lying or belonging, bee decayed without anie wylling default in them that had the inheritance or possession therof, as by fire, breaches, and surrounding of waters, or by destruction of enemies, or rebelles, or of such as had particuler estates therin without impeachment of waste, or by such other like meanes or wayes, and that they who by the ordinance aforesayd, should reedifie the same, are of such pouerty that they cannot by al entendment reedifie or build vp all the same houses againe. And for asmuch also as some perchaunce haue erected & builded vp newe houses in some other places vppon the same landes lying to the sayd houses, or vppon some other land neere thereunto, in lieu and place of the house decayed, which are as auayable to the common wealth, as the newe reedyfying of the decaied houses in the old places should bee, in which cases equitie requireth, they should not be punyshed for the said decay. And forasmuch as it is like to bee, that some ground conuerted from tillage into pasture, is deuyded into diuers small parcelles remaynyng and being in diuers and seuerall mens handes, so that anie one part, will not be sufficient to keepe anie plough vppon. And for that some groundes haue been tilled for destroiyng of mosse, bushes, broome, fyres, heath, and not onely to bee continued in tillage, and such like. And that also some demeanes in the absence of the owners, haue been occupyed to sundrie occupiers, who hath tylled the same, not beeyng commonly vsed to tillage, before the said feast of Saint George, & for that diuers other particuler causes may fortune to bee, which the generall purueyance of this estatute cannot remedy, without greater hurt then good to be done by the same. And for that also that in some places of this realme, it is not necessarie, the purueyance of this estatute to extend and to bee fully executed, but in some places and vpon some occassions or causes, it may more conuenientlie be spared then put in vse, and is therefore necessary to referre such thinges with all other circumstãces, to the discretions of the commissioners, who may more perfectly vnderstand the same. Be it therefore ordeined and enacted by auctoritie of this present parliament, that the sayd commissioners, or fower of them at the least, whereof two to bee of the Quorum, shall and may consider the sayd cases, and such other lyke, and vse their discretions, in tempering and qualifying of the sayd generall purueyance of this or ane of the forsayd former

And further be it enacted by thauthoritie aforesayd, that the sayd commissioners or fower of them, whereof two to be of the Quorum, shal haue power and authoritie by vertue hereof, to make & direct forth preceptes and processes, as well to the Sherife of the countie, as to all other freeholders and persons that ought to attẽd or appeare before the said commissioners, for the tryall aunswerynge, or prouing of anie offence against this estatute, or against any of the aforesaid former estatutes, to appeare before them at any day and time that ẏ said commissioners or fower of thẽ, whereof two to be of ẏ quorum, shal limit or appoint, and vpon that apparaunce of the said personnes to geue day ouer from time to time, as they shal thinke meete. ¶ Money.

AGainst the perilles and damages, which are of late come, and which hereafter may come of the mony of England: It is thus ordayned, that it be cried & defended on the kings behalf through the whole Realme, in all the marchant townes, that no man upon greuous forfeiture, be so hardy to dispend, receaue, nor send money of other coyne, then of the coyne of the king of England, Ireland, & Scotland. Also that it be defended of the kings behalfe, that none bring money into this countrey but only for his expences, neither ỳ he be so hardy to arriue in England, if the force of tempest doe not enforce him, by good witnesse, but at Douer, or at Sandwich, at London, & Saint Botolfe, & at Southampton, & to other common Ports. And when hee shall come to any of these places, hee shall well and lawfully shew his money to him, that shalbe assigned by the king, without any concealement, upon paine of forfeiture of his body & that which he hath, and that from thence hee cary not, nor eloigne the same by him selfe nor by other, until that his money be viewed & examined by him whom ỳ king shall assigne. And further that it bee cryed and defended on the kynges behalfe upon paine of forfayture of his body and that which hee hath, that no man be so hardy to send money in tweene clothes in fardels, or in bales, or in any other manner, wherof suspition may bee of any concealment. And if there bee any such found, hee which found the same shal have iiij. d. of the pound, and the rest to bee to the king. And also that it bee cried & commaunded on the kinges behalfe, that if any find money coined of any other coyne, then of the coyne of the kynge of England, Ireland, and Scotlande, or rounded money, that he breake the same, and that none bee so hardy to againe saye the same, upon paine of greuous forfaiture, and he which findeth the same false, shal break ỳ same, the broken money shalbe geuē to him who oweth it, & ỳ false money shalbe perced without restoringe it, and the body of him in whose handes the false or clipped money appeareth to be soūd be taken and holde vntil such time as hee canne find suerty, if hee bee a suspicious man. Forasmuche as certaine suyghtes of the parties of Ireland, haue lately before this tyme been moued in our Counsell of Ireland, the Iustices ecraunt in those parties are in doubt whether the younger sisters ought to hold of the eldest by homage and so as much as they have made instaunce to be certified how it hath been vsed heretofore vpon our realme of England in like case, at their instaunce we doo pray & require you, y such a laid & custome as in England in this case, that if any holding of vs in chiefe happen to die, having daughters to his heires, our ancestours, and we after the death of the father, haue alway had and receiued homage of all the daughters, and euery of them in this case ow holde of vs in chiefe. And if they happen to be within age, we haue alway had the ward and mariage of them. And if he be tenaunt vnto an other Lord, (the sisters beeinge within age) the Lord shall haue the ward and mariage of them all, and the eldest onely shall be homage for her selfe, and all her sisters. And when the other sisters come to full age, they shall doo their seruice to the lordes of whom they be holden of the eldest sister. Yet shall not the eldest by this occasion exact of her younger sisters homage, ward, or any other subiection, for whie they bee all sisters, and in maner as ons heire to one inheritaunce, if the eldest should haue homage of the other sisters, or dominacion ouer them the inheritance should seeme to be conquered, so that the eldest sister should be seignioures and tenant of inheritance (simul & semel) that is to say, heire of her owne part and seignioures to her sisters, which could not stande to all together in this case, for the eldest can demaund no more then her sisters, but the chiefe medle by reason of her auncientie. Moreouer if the eldest sister should take homage of the younger, she should be as seignioures to them all, & should haue the wards of them & their heires, which should be vnto other but to call the lambe to the wolfe to be deuoured. And therefore the commaund you, y you calle y forsaide customes not be altered from the auncient vsage of Englande in this case, to be maintained vpon the payne and penalties of forfaiture, & to be strictely kept & obserued. And afterwarde the same our soueraigne Lorde the kinge by the aduise and assent of hys councell, sent hys letters of priuy seale, directed to diuers persones of the sayd forest, to make open proclamation that no man of the sayd forest should be so hardy to inquyre or disturbe hys people to passe by the river with all maner of corne, goodes, and cattels, or any other marchaundise, vppon the payne of treason, after which proclamation so made, the sayd trespassours came to the sayd river with more greater routes and riottes then euer they dyd before, not esteeming nor regarding the sayd letters of priuye Seale, and there spoyled at diuers times eight trowes of wheate, rye, flowre, and diuers other goodes and cattels, and the people of the same trowes dyd throwe ouer the borde, and diuers of them drowned, & the sternes of the sayd trowes did cut away, and did threaten the owner of the said goodes and cattels, and also the people of the sayd trowes, that they should not bee so hardy to carrie no maner of vitale by the said streame much nor little for Lord nor for Lady. And that they would hew all to peces the said boates, if they came another time by the coastes of the said Forrest of Deane, for the which riot and Rebellion no persoune of the said Towne of Tewkesbury, nor of the Countrey adioyning, dare not carry any Corne nor other goodes nor cattels in the said River, nor pursue to haue remedie for such oppressions and greenes to them done, for asmuch as the said forest of Deane and hundredes bee very large and the people inhabitinge and resyaunt in the same, verie wilde, and nigh adioyning to the Countrey of Wales. And all the commons of the same forest and hundredes of one affinitie and confederacie in malice and riott, not pondering nor regarding the law, nor the officers and ministers of the same, nor caryng of the procesle, nor punishement of the lawes of the lande, in so much that they will not obey, but at their owne wyll, any minister of the kinges lawes, nor execution of the same, nor the Officers nor ministers of the law of the said Countie, dare not in any wise come into the sayed Forest, to execute any matter or procesle of the law agaynst the will and intent of the commons of the Forest and hundred aforesayd. Our Soueraigne Lord the king, hauing tender respect and consideration of the sayd mischiefes, and also considering the inconueniences which bee like to ensue and follow vppon the same, and vpon that willing to resist the malice of such transgressours and offendours, and to prouide hastie and conuenable remedy for his sayed faithfull lyege people, so greeued in thys behalfe, by the aduise and assent of the Lords spirituall and temporall, beeing in thys present

Be it therefore enacted and estabilished by thauctority of this present parliament, that the said act for making of Gaoles, & al clauses, articles, and provisions in the same contained, shall continue and endure in full force and effect, & be observed and kept in all things, unto the end and terme of tenne yeres next ensuing the last day of this present Parliament. And bee it further enacted by thauctorite aforesaid, that the Justices of peace in every of the shires named and expressed in the said act, or the most part of the said Justices of peace in every of the said shires, within the limittes of their commission, shal have full power and auctorite by vertue of this act, at all time and times within the said terme of tenne yeares, to doo, make and execute, and cause to be done made and executed, all and every such act and actes, thinge and thinges requisite for the makynge and building of the saied Gaoles, as they or any of them ought or ought at any time have done by vertue of the said act made in the said viii. yere of the said late king Henry the eight.

Provided al wayes, and be it enacted by thauctorite aforesaid, that the Justices of peace of the Counties of Pembroke, Glamorgan, Cardigan, Radnor, and Mountgomery in Wales, or the most part of them resiaunt within every of the said Counties, and al such Surveyours, Collectours, and other persounes to whom the execution of the said first recited Estatute doth or may appertaine, shal have such and like power and auctorite to doo and execute al and every such thinge and thinges for and concerninge the building and newe makyng of Gaoles as the Justices of peace & other persones before mencioned of any of the counties contayned in the said first recyted Estatut have in that behalfe. And that also the most part of the Justices of peace, resiaunt within any the counties specified in the sayed first recyted Estatut, shall and may doo and execut all and every thinge and thinges mencioned in the said first recited estatut, touching or concerning the said gaoles. Any doubt or ambiguitie here tofore had or moved, or hereafter to be had or moved not withstanding. Provided also that thinhabitauntes of any of the counties specified in ỳ sayd first recyted act, or in any of the counties of Wales, shall not bee charged by force hereof, or of the sayed first recyted act, to beare and sustaine any costes or charges for the buildyng, repayring or newe makynge of any gayle or gayles, where any other persone or persounes, bodie polytyke or corporat ought of by law, prescription, or by any other good or lawefull waies or meanes, to build make or repaire the same. Anno. 5. Elizabeth cap. 24.

Also be it enacted that the sayed acts (s. viii. H. 8. before. 8. and 5. E. cap. 24 before 10) shall extend to the sayd Countie of Cambridge, and to and for the making and repayryng of Gaoles in the same Countie, in all & every thynge and article, as fully and in as ample maner and fourme as the same actes and either of them do extend to the Counties and gaoles in them, and either of them specially mencyoned, and as though ỳ said Countie of Cambridge, and the gaole in the same County had bene in ỳ same actes, and either of them specially mencyoned: and that the sayed actes and every clause sentence and provision in them and either of them contayned, shal contynue and endure and bee observed in all thinges aswell within the said countie of Cambridge as in other the counties or shires in ỳ same acts, and in either of them specified for tenne whole yeres next ensuing the end and determination of the tenne yeres mencioned in the said act made ## ¶ Recognisance and Statute merchant.

EVery Merchannt which will be suer of his debt, shall cause his debtour to come before the Maior of London, or of Yorke, or Winchow, or before the maior and clerke (which the king shall appoint for the same,) for to knowledge the debt, and day of payment, & the recognisance shalbe entred into a rolle with the hand of the said Clerke, which shalbe knowen. Moreouer the said clerke shall make with hys owne hand a bill obligatory, whereunto the seale of the debtor shalbe put, with the kinges seale, that shalbee prouided for the same purpose, the which seale shall remaine in the keeping of the Maior & clerke aforesaid. And if the debtor doe not pay at the day to hym limitted, the creditour shal cõe before ỳ said maior & clerke with his bil obligatory. And if it be found by the rolle & by the byll, that they debt was knowleged, & ỳ the day of payment is crppred, the maior shall incontinent cause the mouables of the debtour to be sold as farre as the debt doth amount, at the prysing of honest men, after the maner of borough goods deusable, vntill ỳ whole summe of the debt & the money be fully payed to ỳ creditour, & if the maior can find no buyer he shal cause ỳ mouables to be deliuered to ỳ creditour at a reasonable price, as much as doth amount to the sũme of ỳ debt, & ỳ kings seale shal be put vnto ỳ sale & deliuerãce of ỳ goods deusable for a perpetuall witnesse. And if ỳ debtour haue no mouables within ỳ iurisdiccion of the maior, wherupon ỳ debt may bee leuied, but peraduenture hath some other where within the Realme, then shall the maior retourne the recognisance made before him & the clerke aforesaid vnto the Chauncelor vnder ỳ kings seale. And the Chãcelor shal direct a writ vnto ỳ shirife, in whose bailiwike ỳ the mouables of the debtour hap to be, & the shirife shal cause him to agree wỏ his creditour in such forme as ỳ maior should haue done in case ỳ the mouables of the debtor had bene with in his power. And let thẽ ỳ haue prised the mouable goodes to be deliuered vnto the creditor, take good hede, that they do set a reasonable price vpon thẽ, for if they doe set an ouer high price for fauour borne to the debtour, to the damage of ỳ creditour, then shall ỳ thing so prayed be deliuered vnto thẽ selues at such price as they haue lymitted, and shalbe forthwith answerable vnto the creditour. And if the debtour will say, that the mouable goods were deliuered or sold for lesse then they were worth, yet shal hee haue smale remedy thereby, for when ỳ maior or ỳ shirife hath sold ỳ mouable goods lawfully to him that offered most, he may accompt it his owne folly, ỳ hee did not sell hys owne mouable goods himselfe before ỳ day of ỳ suit (whẽ he might wel enough & so haue leuied the money wỏ his owne hands. And if ỳ debtour haue no mouables, whereupon ỳ debt may bee leuied then shal his body be taken, where it may be founden, & kept in prison, vntill that he hath made agrement, or hys frinds for him, & if he haue not wherewith he may susteine him selfe in prison the creditour shall find him bread & water, to the end ỳ he die not in prison for default of sustenance, ỳ which costs the debtor shall recompence him with his debt, before that he be let out of prison. And if the creditor be a merchant stranger, he shall remaine at the costs of the debtor for so long time as he tarieth about the suit of his debt, and intill the mouable goodes of the debtour be sold or deliuered vnto him. And if ỳ creditour doe not take the debtor alone for the suerty of his paymẽt, by reason whereof pledges or mainpernors bee founden: then thole pledges or mainpernours shal come before the Maior & clerke aboueſaid, & shall bind thẽ ſelues by writinges & recognisances, in lyke maner as the principal debtor. And in like maner if the debt be not paied at ỳ day limitted, such execution shalbe awarded against the pledges or maynpernors, as before is appointed for the debtor, Acton burnell. An. 13. E. 1.

2 ¶ For as much as marchants, which heretofore haue lent their goods to diuers persons, be now fallen in pouerty because there is no speedy remedy prouyded, whereby they may shortly recouer ther debt at the day of paymẽt assessed: And for this mischief many merchants are loth to come into the realme with theyr merchandise, to the great damage of such merchants & of al the realme: The king & his counsail, at his parliament holden at Acton Burnel, after the feast of saint Michell the xi. peare of his raigne, hath ordeyned these establishmẽts, thereupon for the remedy of such marchantes, which ordinances & establishmentes, ỳ king commaũdeth that they shalbe firmely kept & obserued throughout his Realm whereby merchaunts may haue remedy, & leſſe trouble & businesse to recouer their debts then they haue had heretofore. But for as much as marchaunts afterward complained vnto the king, ỳ sheriffes misinterpreted his statutes, & sometime by malice and false interpretation delaied the execution of ỳ statute to ỳ great damage of merchants: The king at his parliamentholdẽ at Weſtminster after Easter, ỳ xiii. yere of his raigne, caused the saied statut made at Acton Burnell, to be reherſed. And for the declaration of certaine articles in ỳ statut aforesaid, hath ordeigned & established, ỳ a merchant for the assurance of his debt, shal cause his debtour to cõe before the maior of London, or before some chiefe wardein of the City, or of an other good towne, where ỳ king shal appoint, & before ỳ maister, chiefe wardeine, or other sufficient men chosen & swoine thereto, when ỳ maior or chief wardein can not attend thereto, & before one of the clerkes that ỳ king shall thereto assigne, when both can not bee attendaunt, he shal knowledge ỳ debt & the day of payment, & ỳ recognisance shalbe enrolled by one of ỳ clerks hãds being knowen, & ỳ roll shall be double, whereof one part shall remaine vñ the maior or chiefe wardein, & the other vñ ỳ clerkes ỳ thereto shalbe first named. And further, one of the saied clerkes with his own hand shal writ an obligation, where vpon the seale of ỳ debtour shal be put, vñ ỳ kinges seale prouided for ỳ same intent, which seale shall bee of two peces, whereof ỳ greater peece shall remaine with ỳ maior or ỳ chiefe wardein, & ỳ other in the keping of the foresaid clerkes. And if the debtour doe not pay ỳ debt, at ỳ day limitted vnto him, then shal ỳ merchant come before the maior & clerke vñ his obligation, & if it be found by ỳ rolle or writing, ỳ the debt was knowledged, & ỳ day of paymẽt expyred, & maior or chiefe wardein shal cause ỳ body of ỳ debtour to be takẽ (if he be lay) whensoeuer he happeneth to cõe in their power, & shal cõmit him to ỳ prisõ of ỳ town, if there be any, & shal remain there at his own costes, vntil he hath agreed for ỳ debt, & it is commaũded, ỳ ỳ keper of ỳ towns prisõ, shal retaine him vpõ ỳ deliuery of ỳ maior or chiefe wardein, & if the keper will not receiue him, he shalbe answerable for the debt, if hee haue whereof, and if hee haue not whereof, he that committed ỳ

And if the debtour can not be found by the maior or chiefe warden, then shall they or any of them retourne into the chauncery vnder the kings seale, the recognisaunce of the debt: and the chauncellour shall direct a writ vnto the sherife, in whose shere the debtour happeneth to bee, for to take his body (if he be laie) and saufely to kepe him in prison, vntill he hath agreed for the debt. And within a quarter of a yeare after that he is taken, his landes shalbe deliuered him, so that by the profits he may leuy and pay the debts. And it shalbe lawful vnto him, during the same quarter, to sel his landes & tenements for the discharge of his debts, and his sale shal be good and effectuall. And if he do not agree within the quarter next after the quarter expyred, al the lands & goods of the debtour shal bee deliuered vnto the merchaunt by a reasonable extent, to hold them vntill such tyme as the debt is wholly leuied. And nevertheless the body shall remaine in prison, as before is saied. And if ỳ sheriffes do not retourn ỳ writ, or do retourne that ỳ writ came to late, or ỳ they haue directed it to the bailiffes of some fraunchise, the iustices shal do as it is contained in ỳ statute of Westminster. And if ỳ sherife retourn ỳ they debtour can not be found, or that he be clerke, the merchants shall haue writtes to al ỳ sheriffes, or he shal haue ỳ lãd, & that they shal deliuer al ỳ goods & landes of ỳ debtour by a reasonable extent, to hold vnto him and his assignes in the fourme aforesaid, and at the least he shall haue a writ to what sheriffe ỳ he wyll, to take his body (if he bee laie) and to retaine it in maner aforesaied, & the keper of the pryson ought to take hede, that he muste aunswer for ỳ body or for the debt. And after that the debtours landes bee deliuered to the merchaunt, the debtour may lawfully sell his land, for that the merchant haue no damage of the approuements, & ỳ merchauntes shall alwaies bee allowed for their damages and all costes, labours, suites, delaies, and expences reasonable And if the debtour find suerties, after ỳ day passed, ỳ suerties shalbe ordered in al thinges as is said of ỳ principal debtour, as to the arrest of body delinery of landes, & other thinges. And when the lands of the debtours be deliuered vnto the merchant, he shal haue seisin of al ỳ lands that were in the hand of the debtour, the day of the recognisaunce made in whose handes soeuer that they come after ward, either by feffement or other wise, & after the debt paied, the debtors lands, & the issues therof by feoffement shal retourne againe, as wel to ỳ feoffee as the other landes vnto the debtours. & if the debtour or his suerties die, the merchaunt shall haue none authoritie to take the body of his heire, but he shal haue his lands, as before is said, if hee bee of age, or when he shal be of ful age vntill such time as he hath leuied of the lands the amountaunce and value of ỳ debt. And also an other seale shalbe prouided, that shall serue for fayres, and ỳ same shalbe set vnto euery faire vnder the kinges seale by a clerke sworne, or by the keper of the faire. And of the cõmynalty of London two merchantes shal be chosen, that shall swere, and the seale shal bee opened before them, and the one peces shalbe deliuered vnto the

And when the Lordes at the complaint of their tenaunts, do come by attachment into the countie, or vnto an other court, hauing power to hold pleas of wythernam and do aduowe ỳ taking good and lawfull: by reason ỳ ỳ tenauntes dysauowe and doe disclaime to hold ought of him (which take the distresse) and aduowed it be that distrained is amerced, and the tenaunts goe quite, to whom punishemẽt can not be assigned for such disauowyng by record of ỳ countie, or of other courts hauyng no record: It is prouided and ordeined from henceforth that where such lordes can not obtaine iustice in counties, and such maner of courtes against their tenauntes, as sone as they shal be attached at the suit of their tenantes, a writ shalbe graunted to them, to remoue ỳ matter before the Iusticers, afore whō & none other where, iustice may be ministred to such lordes. And the cause shal bee put in the writ, because such a man distrained in his fee for seruices & customes to him due. Neyther is this act preiudiciall to the law commonly vsed whereby it is prohibited, ỳ no plea shal be moued before Iusticers at the suit of the defendaunt, For though it appere at the first face that the tenant is plaintife, & the lord defendant: neuertheless hauing respect to that, ỳ the Lord hath distreined & sueth for seruices & customes being behind, he appeareth in dede to be rather plaintife then defendaunt. And to the intent the Iusticers may knowe, vpon what fresh saysin ỳ lordes may aduowe the distresse good & lawfull vpon their tenauntes: Frō henceforthe it is agreed and enacted, that a reasonable distresse may be aduowed vpon the seisin of any aūcestour or predecessour synce the time that a writt of nouel disseisin hath runne. And because it chaunceth many times, that the tenant, after that he hath repleuied his beastes, doth sell or alien them, whereby retourne cā not be made vnto the lord that distrained, if it be adiudged: It is prouided, ỳ sheriffes or bailifes from hēceforth shal not onely receiue of the plaintifes pledges for the suit, before they make deliuerannce of the distresse, but also for the retourne of the beastes, if returne be awarded. And if any take pledges otherwise, he shal aunswer for the price of ỳ beastes, & the lord that distreineth, shal haue his recouerie by writ that he shal restore vnto hym so many beastes or cattel. And if the bailife bee not able to restore, his lord shal restore. And for as much as it happeneth sōetime, that after the retourne of the beastes is awarded vnto the distreignour, & the party so distraigned, after that the beastes be retourned, doth repleuie them againe, and when he seeth ỳ distrainour appearyng in the Court ready to aunswer hym, doth make default, whereby retourne of ỳ beastes ought to be awarded again vnto the distrainour: And so ỳ beastes bee repleuied twise or thrice, & infinitly and the iudgementes geuen in ỳ kings court take no effect in this case, whereupon no remedy hath bē yet prouided. In this case such proces shalbe awarded, ỳ so sone as retourne of the beastes shalbe awarded to the distrainer, the sherife shal be commaunded by a iudyciall writte, to make retourne of ỳ beastes vnto the distrainor, in which writ it shalbe expressed, that the sherife shall not deliuer thē without writt, making mencion of the iudgement geuen by ỳ Iusticers, which can not bee without a writ issuyng out of the rolles of the said Iusticers, before whom ỳ matter was moued. Therefore when hee commeth vnto the Iusticers, and desireth repleuin of the beastes, he shall haue a iudyciall writt, that the sherife taking suerty for the suit, and also of the beastes or cattell to be retourned, or for the price of them (if retourne be awarded) shal deliuer vnto hym the beastes or cattell before retourned, & ỳ distrainour shall bee attached, to come at a certayn day before the Iusticers, afore whom the plee was moued in presence of ỳ parties.

Such as do feare the subtiltie of Shiryfes, shall deliuer theyr writtes originall and iudiciall in the open cōtie or againe in the shire, where the collection of the kynges money is, and may take of the sherife and undersherife beeing present a bill, wherein the names of the demaundauntes and tenauntes mencioned in the writ, shalbe conteined, and at the request of him that deliuered the writte, the seale of ỳ sherife or under sherife shallbee put to the bill for a testimonie, and mencion shalbe made of the day of ỳ deliuerāce of the writte. And if the sherife or undersheriffe wyll not put hys seale to the bill, the witnes of knightes and other credible persones being in preſēce shalbee taken, that put their seales to such bill. And if the sherife will not retourne writtes delyuered vnto him, & complaynt thereof bee made to the Iustices, a writte iudicial shal go vnto the Iusticers assigned to take assyses, that they shall inquire by such as were present at the deliueraunce of the writte to the sheryffe, if they knewe of the delyueraunce, and the inquest shalbee retourned. And if it be found by the inquest, that the writte was delyuered to hym, dammages shalbee awarded to the playntyfe or demaundaunt, having respect to the qualitie & quantitie of the action, & to the perill ỳ might haue come to him by reason of the delay that he sustained, and by this meane there is remedy when the sherife returneth, that the writt came to late, whereby he could not execute the kings commaundement. Oftentimes also pleas be delaied by reason that the sherife retourneth, that hee hath commaunded the baylifes of some liberty, which did nothing therein, & nameth liberties, that neuer had the retourne of writtes, whereupon our soueraigne lord the kyng hath ordeyned, that the Treasourer & Barōs of the ekchequer shal deliuer in a roll all the liberties in all maner of shires that haue retourne of writtes. And they do ỳ same beecause the othe is not put vnto Iurours of the same countrey, where such felonies were done, and to the restitution of dammages hitherto no payne hath bene lymitted for their concealement and latches: Our soueraigne lord the kinge, for to abate the power of felons, hath established a paine in thys case, so that frombenceforth, for feare of the paine more then for feare of any othe, they shal not spare any, nor concele any felonies. And frombenceforth eries shalbe made in al counties, hundreds, markets, faires, and al other places, where great resort of people is, so that none shall excuse him selfe by ignorance, that frombenceforth euerie countrie be so well kept, ỳ immediatly vppon such robberies and felonies cõmitted, fresh suit be made frõ Towne to towne, & frõ countrey to countrey. Like wise when neede requireth, inquests shalbe made in townes by him that is Lord of the Towne, and after in the hundred, and after in the fraunchyse, and in the Countie, & sometime in two, three, or fower Countyes, in case where felonies bee committed in the marches of shires, so that the trespassours may bee attainted. And if ỳ countrey will not aunswere for the bodies of such trespassours, the pain shal bee such that is to witte, that the people dwellinge in the countrey shalbee aunswerable for the robberies doone, and also the dammages, so ỳ the hole hundred, where the robbery happeneth to bee done, or the fraunchises, being within the precinct of the same hundred, shalbe aunswerable for the robberies done. And if the robbery chaunce to be done in the diuision of ij. hundreds, in such case both hundreds and the frãchises, which also bee within the precincts of them, shalbee aunswerable. And after that the felony or robbery is done, the countrey shal haue no lõger space the halfe a yeare, within which halfe yere it shal behoue them to agree for the robbery or the trespas, or elle ỳ they will aunswere for the bodies of ỳ offendors. And for as much as ỳ king will not that his people should bee so dainly impouerished by reason of this penaltie that semeth very hard to many, the king graunteth that they shal not incurre it immediatly, but it shalbe respited vntill the Easter next following, within which time the kinge may see how the countrey will order themselues, and whether such felonies and robberies do cease. After which terme let them all bee assured, that the foresaid penaltie shall renne generally, ỳ is to witte, that the people of the countrey shalbee aunswerable for felonies and robberies done among them.

And for the more suerty of ỳ countrey, ỳ king hath commaunded, ỳ in great Townes beinge walled, the gates shalbe closed from the somme resynge vntil the somme rysinge, and ỳ no man do lodge in suburbes, nor in any place out of the Towne from ix. of ỳ clocke vntil daie, without hys hoste wyll aunswere for him, & the bailifes of townes euery weeke, or at the least euery xv. day, shal make inquiry of al persones beeinge lodged in the suburbes or places of the townes. And if they do find any that haue lodged or receyued any straungers or suspicious persounes against the peace, the Bayliffes shall do right therein. And the kyng commaũdeth, that frombenceforth all townes be kept as it hath beene vsed in tymes passed, that is to wit from the feast of Ascencion, vnto Mighelmas, in euery Citie vi. men shal kepe at euery gate, in euery borough iii. men, euery townes vi. or viii. according to the number of inhabitaunts of the towne, & shal watch the towne al night from the sonne resting vnto the somme rising. And shall also entitle in his bookes, and enrolle of record such other writigs as thither shalbe brought vnder the archbishops seale not to bee confirmed, taking for his paines such reasonable summes of money as here after by thys act to hym shalbe limitted for the same. And that aswell the said Clerke appointed by the said archbishops, as the said clerke to be appointed by your highnesse, your heyres or successours shall subscribe their name to euery such licence, dispensation, faculte, or other writinge that shall cōe to their handes to bee writen, made, graunted, sealed, confirmed, registred, and enrolled by aucthoritie of this act, in fourme as is beefore rehearsed. And for asmuch as the charges of obtayning the saied licences, dispensations, faculties, and other rescripts or writyngs afore named, at ỳ court of Rome by the losses and exchaunges, and in conductinge of currours, and wageing solicitours to sue for any such licences, dispensations, faculties, instruments, and other rescripts or writinges, haue beene greeuous and excessiue to your people, and many times greater sūms haue beene demaunded for the speedie expedition in the court of Roome, then bee expressed in the olde taxe, limytted to bee paied for the saied expeditions, wherby your people haue ben brought to an incertaintie vppon ỳ payment for expedicions of such thynges, and by reason thereof haue bene constrained to pay more then they were wont to doo, to the great impouerishynge of this realme, as is aforesaid. And some time the speading of such dispensatiōs, faculties, licences and other writyngs at Roome, haue beene so longe differred, that the partyes labouringe for ỳ same haue suffered great incommodyties and losse for lacke of quicke speede which hereafter may bee had within this your realm, to the great commodite of your people. Whereby ỳ charges of making exchanges conducting of currours and solicitours for the sayd dispensations, dispensations, shalbe abated, and your people so much relieued and eased, to ỹ entent that all ambiguitie & incertaintie of paymentes for dispensations, faculties, licences, and other rescripts, & writings may be taken away, that no fraud nor exaccion shalbe exercised vpon your people by such officers as shall be appointed by this act, to take paines in speding such dispensations, faculties and licences, but that your people may be sure & certaine what they be appointed to pay for the same: Be it enacted by this present parliament, and by auctoritie of the same, that there shalbee two bookes drawen, and made of one tenour, in which shalbee contened the tares of all customable dispensations, faculties, licences, and other writings wont to bee spedde at Roome, whych bookes & euery leafe of those bookes & both sides of euery leafe, shalbe subscribed by the Archbishop of Canterburie, the Lord Chauncelor of England, the Lord Treasorer of England, and the two chiefe Justices of both Benches for the time being, to the which bookes all suters for dispensations, faculties, licences and other writings, afore rehearsed shall haue recourse, if they require it. And one of ỹ said bookes shall remaine in the hands of him, whych shallbee appointed to bee register and scribe of the said dispensatiõ, faculties, and licences vnder the saied Archebyshoppe of Caunterburie, in fourme as is beefore sayed: And that other booke shall remaine wyth the Clerke of the Chauncery which by your grace, your heires or successours shallbee appoynted as is beefore rehearsed. Whych Clerke of the Chauncery shal also intitle and note particularly and dayely in his booke, ordained for that purpose the number and qualitie of the dispensations, faculties, licences, and other rescriptes, and writinges, whych shall bee sealed onely wyth the seale of the said Archbishopp, and also whych shal bee sealed with the sayd seale and confirmed with the great seale, in fourme as is beefore sayd, and that all fraud & concealement in thys behalfe may bee auoyded. And bee it enacted by thys present parliament, & by thauctoryte of the same that no man suyng for dispensations, faculties, licences, or other escript or writinges whych were wont to be spedde at Roome, shal pay any more for their dispensations, licences or rescriptes then shalbe contained tared, and limitted in the said duplycat bookes of tares, onely composityons excepted, of which beeinge arbitrarie no tare canne bee made. Wherefore the tare thereof shalbes sett and limitted by the discretion of the said Archebishoppe of Caunterbury, and the lord Chauncellour of England or the Lord keeper of the great Seale for ỹ tyme beeinge. And that such as shall exacte or receiue of anie suyter more for anie dispensation, faculte, or lycence then shallbee contayned in the said bookes of tares, shal forfayt tenne tymes so much, as hee shal so extorcionsly exact & receiue: The one halfe of the which forfayture to bee to the vse of your grace, your heires or successours and the other halfe thereof to bee to such of your subiectes as will sue for the same by accyon, byll, or playnt, in anie of your graces courtes wherein the defendaunt shall haue none essoine nor protectyon allowed, neyther shallbee admitted to wage hys lawe. Wee it also enacted by thys parlyament and auctoritie of the same, that ỹ tare or summe appointed to bee payed for euerie such dispensation, licence, faculte, instrument, rescript, or other writinge to bee graunted by auctoryte of this act, shallbee employed, and ordered, as hereafter enlueth that is to say: If the tare extend to fower li. or aboue, by reason whereof the dispẽsation, lycence, faculte, rescrypt or writinge whych shall passe by the said Archebyshoppes seale, must bee confirmed by thappenciõ of ỹ great seale, then sayd Sacrament of the most precious body and blood of our Sauiour Jesus Christ, and also more conformable to the common vse and practise, both of ỹ Apostles, and of the primitiue Church by the space of fiue hundreth yeres and more, after Christes Ascencion, that the said blessed sacrament should be ministred to all Christian people, vnder both the kindes of breade and wyne, then vnder the fourme of bread onely: and also it is more agreable to the first institution of Christ and to the vsage of the Apostles, and the primatyue Church, that the people being present should receyue the same with ỹ priest, then that the priest should receyue it alone:

Both kindes

Therefore bee it enacted by our soueraigne lord the king, with the consent of the lordes spirituall and temporall, and the commons in this present parliament assembled and by thauctoritie of the same, that the said most blessed Sacrament, be hereafter commonly deliuered and ministred vnto ỹ people, within thys Church of England and Ireland, and other the kyngs dominions, vnder both the kindes, that is to say: of Bread and Wyne, except necessitie otherwyse require, and also that the priest, whych shall minister the same, shall at the least one day before, exhort all persones, which shalbee present lykewise to resort, and prepare them selues to receiue the same.
